Alberta's 1956 Road Program Going Well

Alberta's main highway construction program this year is proceeding well ahead of last year's highways minister Gordon Taylor said last week.

The $42,492,105 program approved by the legislature last year is going ahead well despite the loss of 400 shifts last month due to wet weather, he said.

Crews to date have built more than 117 miles of new grade, about 38 per cent of the total program, seven per cent better than at the same time in 1955.

More than 156 miles of base course, or 58 per cent of the program, has been completed, compared with 37 per cent at the same time last year.

Surfacing completed is 184 miles, or 60 per cent of the program, against 37 per cent at the same time last year. Seal coating of highways is 140 miles or 63 per cent, compared with 22 per cent last year.

Lac la Biche

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lloyd have moved to their house in the country and the John Ewanchuks have purchased the house formerly occupied by the Lloyd family. The Robert Graham family have bought the house vacated by the Ewanchuks and have moved in. Mr. and Mrs. George Desjarlais have purchased the house recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Tony Masteler. Harvey Marchildon has been enlarging his house the past few weeks, and it will be among the better houses in the district when completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Lore are leaving this weekend for a holiday at Bassano.

Miss Doreen Applet is spending the long weekend in Calgary.

Spruce Valley

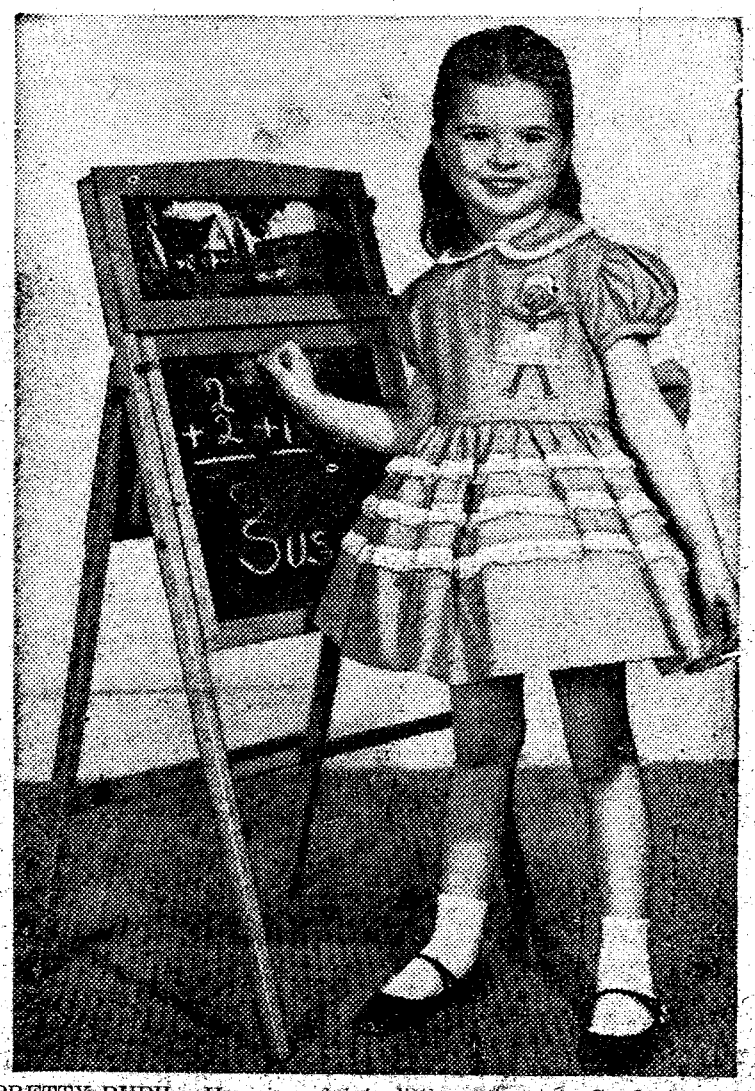
Elsie Koltowski is home now after spending a six day holiday with friends at Edmonton.

Mrs. Genoud, the district nurse, held a pre-school and infant immunization clinic at the home of Mrs. Peter Homeniuk on Friday, August 31.

Mike Kochan has left the district to return to his employment after spending a holiday with his family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Zilinski are back from their trip to Banff and Jasper.

Fred Ryl, who is employed at Drayton Valley, was at home recently.



PRETTY PUPIL. Here is a dainty little aspirant to Grade 1 enrolment who does a little pre-school experimenting with two of the three "r's" before sampling the real thing. Or perhaps mummy wrote down that 'riting and 'rithmetic, so we could do the reading? Alberta schools expect a record enrolment next week.

Blanket Of Cloud Keeps Frost From Crops In Coldest Sept. 1st Week-End

The past week-end was the coldest in Alberta on record. New records were broken on Saturday, Sunday and Monday for lowest temperatures ever recorded for this time of year.

Miraculously, a thick blanket of fog succeeded in keeping frost from growing crops in all but a few districts. Temperatures Monday night dropped to as low as 28 degrees at Jasper, but affected no crops as there are none in the area. In other places such as Lac la Biche the temperature dropped almost to the freezing point but not quite.

Snow fell all day Sunday in Edmonton but melted as it hit the ground. However, a thin blanket of snow was in evidence on the ground in the Edson and Obed districts.

Fish Overflow Fishermen's Nets

Rich Lake was really humming with activity on the morning of August 20, as commercial fishermen set their nets on Fork Lake.

As many as 20 boats could be seen at one time as they set out at 8 a.m. from the north fork shore. The many colored boats, trucks, cars and white tents made a colorful scene as viewed from farther up the shore.

Approximately 150 licenses were issued for this lake and a catch of 45,000 lbs. was realized.

Couple Celebrate 25th Anniversary

PLAMONDON — Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gagnon of Edmonton, formerly of Plamondon celebrated their silver anniversary, Aug. 25. Those who attended the ceremony and reception were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dube, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gagnon, Mr. and Mrs. Emile Plamondon, Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Gagnon and Mrs. Lillian Johnson.

Mass was officiated by Rev. Fr. St. Arnault of Jarvie at 2 p.m.

A reception was held at the couple's home for the family and friends. A buffet style supper was served at 5 p.m. for approximately 40 guests.

The couple received many lovely gifts and dancing was enjoyed in the evening.

15-YEAR-OLD LAC LA BICHE BOYS STAGE SWIM MARATHON

Not to be outdone by the much-publicized swimming feats across the Straits of Juan De Fuca, of late, two Lac la Biche boys, Tommy Maccagno and Danny Hamer staked a marathon of their own at Beaver Lake on Sunday by swimming from the beach near Sampetro's Inn to Goat Island, a distance reportedly two and a half miles. The boys covered the distance in just an hour.

The lake was calm and beautiful under the warm August sun as the boys decided to test their stamina. Admiring fans on shore watched their progress with binoculars and several boats followed the pair as they made their way through the sun warmed water. through the sun warmed water reaching the Island without mishap and with a good reserve of energy. Though only 15 years of age, both boys have proven their ability in the water and we are expecting to hear of more exploits, perhaps the English Channel one of these days.

Council Decides To Finance Water System Through Current Revenue

Town council held the regular meeting Tuesday evening, Aug. 28, with Councillors Perron, Tkachuk, Vincent, McMillan and Maccagno present, as well as Mayor Hamar and Secretary Creighton.

After the reading of the minutes the matter of approaches to private homes was brought up, having been tabled at the previous meeting. During the course of the discussion it was pointed out that if culverts or concrete approaches were provided in certain cases every property owner would have a right to expect the same privilege with the result that financial appropriations would come far short of meeting the demand. No definite action was taken.

Authorization was given for the payment of a grant of $50 to the W.I. library. This has been the custom for some time.

Council was informed that the plebiscite on a money by-law, held August 15 could not be recognized, as only six votes were cast, (five for and one against). At least ten per cent of the qualified voters must vote on such a by-law. After some discussion, council decided to go ahead with the installation of the required equipment for the water system, and finance through current revenue and short term borrowing if necessary, rather than by debenture borrowing as had been planned.

Since Dr. Brimsmead had moved away, it was found necessary to take steps to engage another medical health office, and the secretary was asked to look into the matter.

Councillor Maccagno gave a verbal report on a meeting of the Athabasca Health Unit which he had attended on the previous day. He was much impressed with the volume and quality of the work the unit is doing, and said that he would be pleased to represent the council at future meetings of the Health Unit Board.

Two different reports of the town's water analysis were presented and found to be satisfactory.

A letter from a ratepayer was read, suggesting that the town take some sort of action to improve the general appearance of streets, vacant property, etc. The secretary was asked to reply. A letter of application for the position of town constable was read, along with the copy of a reply by the secretary stating that the town has no such opening at present. A letter was read from Civil Defence Headquarters in Edmonton, reminding the town of a civil defence training course to be held in September, and urging that a representative be sent to take advantage of the course. A letter was read concerning a water and sewer conference to be held in Calgary in the latter part of September. A motion was passed authorizing the town foreman, Hervy Marchildon, to attend this conference.

A building permit was granted to Nick Bobocel for construction of a portable garage, and a permit was granted to F. McMillan for an addition to dwelling.

The secretary was asked to write to Mr. Harman of the Fisheries Dept. informing him that the council concurred with him is his displeasure over a recent case of bulldozing dirt into the lake.

Payment was authorized of $2,132.15, instalment on water and sewer debenture.

Accounts amounting to $1,209.52 were passed for payment.

Site Chosen For Federal Building

Contractors have arrived to begin surveying the site of the new federal building which will be located on the corner of Nanton Street and Athabasca Avenue. The building, which will house the post office and quarters for the caretaker, will be 60x67 feet, with basement, first floor, and a two bedroom suite above the first floor for the caretaker.

Construction will be chiefly of brick, with the front to be of brick and porcelain. The general contractor is Haddow Construction Co. of Edmonton, and the plastering, plumbing, electrical work and roofing will be sublet to specialists in these lines. The building, estimated to cost $150,000 is expected to be completed by April 1st, 1957.

DISTRICT AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By J. S. LORIE

In many parts of Canada only one cutting of alfalfa hay is harvested. A second cutting may be produced by August or early September, but it is not advisable to harvest it, says J. E. R. Greenshields, Forage Crops Laboratory, Saskatoon, Sask. At this time the Alfalfa plant is storing reserves in its root system and cutting will force new growth so that the plant will go into the winter in a weakened condition. However, if cutting is delayed until later September or early October the crop can be harvested safely. The root reserves have been stored and little or no regrowth will start before winter sets in.

This late cutting is valuable feed. Analyses at Saskatoon have shown 19 per cent protein in late-cut alfalfa. Unfortunately cool weather and high moisture content in the crop make it difficult to cure as hay, as artificial driers are seldom available. The best use is as grass silage. If it is stored as silage, 150-200 pounds of ground oats or barley should be mixed in when the crop is ensiled. The added grain reduces the high moisture content of the alfalfa. It also adds carbohydrates and thus allows better use of the high protein content of the crop. Finally, the grain acts as a preservative to make a better quality silage.

POLAND is expected to import more than a million tons of wheat again this year according to that country's vice-minister of agriculture. He blamed the shortage of grain on a succession of bad harvests, last year's indifferent crop and this year's spring frosts. The acreage under grain has diminished.

The Invisible Citizen

We have become used to hearing electric power called the hidden servant — and we take it for granted, one power has been installed in our communities and our homes, tha the hidden servant will, like the Geni of Aladdin's lamp, be ready at all times to do our bidding.

But we feel constrained to mention another fanciful personality in this field. One we might call "The Invisible Citizen" — the good neighbor and neighborhood booster who comes among us daily. though unseen, and like his colleague, the hidden servant is always ready to play his full part in making our lives a little brighter and a little happier.

For instance, in a recent issue of The Mayerthorpe Review, readers saw a large advertisement, with li'l Reddy Kilowatt himself pictured in the saddle, inviting all and sundry to "Come to Your Own Big Show", and reminding everyone to "Support your community. It makes your community bigger and better". All this was aimed at boosting the attendance at Mayerthorpe Fair and the Invisible Citizen was right in there rooting with the rest of the town's boosters.

That's one big credit mark on the record of the Calgary Power company. No matter what community the concern serves, it tries hard to combine with that service all the attributes of a good neighbor and a fellow taxpayer. See what we mean when we say "The Invisible Citizen"?

From Sea to Sea . . .

Last week, down in Quebec province, "Canada's biggest family party" was held.

It first got that name when it was staged in Toronto in 1954 and the label has stuck.

Attending the "party" were close to 500 persons — mostly members and their wives of the world's biggest press association — the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

Canada has close to 800 non-metropolitan weekly, twice-weekly and tri-weekly papers and the large majority of them pay dues, ranging up to $75 per year, to support their national newspaper association. In Alberta alone there are over 100 weeklies.

It is true that the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association has a few economic objectives and is concerned to some extent with the over $25 million of advertising and printing its members produce each year. But primarily it lives simply for the promotion of Canadianism.

Although its head offices are in Toronto, the Association's annual convention is held each year in a different part of Canada. This year it was in Quebec. In 1957 it will be Banff, Alberta; in 1958, Halifax. And to these convention come the publishers and editors of not only the bigger journals, but the little ones, too — the Fundy Fisherman of Black's Harbour, the Hughenden (Alta.) Record, the Altona Red River Valley Echo, the Fort Qu'Appelle Valley Legend, the Osoyoos Times and the Similkameen Spotlight — names as picturesque and as Canadian as Canada itself.

At their conference tables and their after-hour discussions, editors of French, English and foreign language papers, men and women from rugged Newfoundland fishing villages, from prairie grain lands and from industrial centres in Ontario, each year re-discover the common ties that bind them and their communities into a Canada that is truly one dominion from sea to sea.

Unsubsidized by government, little heralded in the Massey reports, and seldom by sociologists, we wonder if there is any single factor which looms larger in the development of a Canadian culture than the annual get-together of the weekly newspapers of this land. This year's Allouette convention at Murray Bay was their 37th.

European countries have abolished quotas on 54 per cent of their imports from Canada and the United States. On agricultural products 71 per cent of the quotas have been abolished.

A Cat Curfew

In Westbury, Long Island, a curfew has been put into operation for cats. It is against the law for cats to prowl after curfew time.

It seems that the cat population has been increasing too fast in Westbury and the cats calling at night had become a problem. The problem hereafter might be one of catching the cats, finding them or finding out something about them.

The cat curfew is in the best democratic tradition, explains one interested party. Until now, it is said, Westbury had a curfew on dogs but none on cats. In other words, the dogs were being discriminated against.

The Flying Diplomat

This week the redoubtable Lester Pearson, Canada's Minister of Foreign Affairs, is off on another trip to Europe. It seems to be the fashion these days for each country to have its own Flying Diplomat.

A trip from Washington or Ottawa to London today isn't much different to making a journey between Calgary and Edmonton 20 years ago. So it isn't exactly a hardship for Canada's little Lester to make a three weeks' tour of European military establishments this month.

Besides, with the cold war and other things, inter-country travel and diplomacy was never more important. Mr. Pearson is still a comparatively young man. Someone in high authority has to do this work and it would be too much to expect the much older Prime Minister to be on the go all the time.

After all the experience he's getting in affairs of state, who would make a more suitable successor to Mr. St. Laurent than Hon. Lester Pearson? We submit — nobody else.

Farming in the Future

(Calgary Albertan)

An interesting look into the future of farming has been taken by the Canadian Industries Ltd. publication "Agricultural News" in the light of scientific research being done today. Here is what some scientists see:

First, the average farmer will know more about his land and its production capacity. Crop and livestock producers will be able to control yields and quality in a way known only in the laboratory. The farmer of the future will be able to judge, by way of profit, what each improved practice is worth and will know to the penny the difference in returns from one variety over another or one level of fertilization over another.

Farms will practically enter an age of automation with all operations from seed bed preparation through harvest being done by fewer machines than used today. Seed germination will be vastly improved with growers able to plant with assurance there will be no need to re-plant later. There will be powerful and more selective pest controls, plants will be bred to take full advantage of natural soil and climate, nuclear irradiation and other methods of producing desirable mutations will be in use. The farmer will even be able to make better use of rainfall through chemical sprays which would seal moisture into the ground.

All in all, it looks as though the farmer of the future will have few worries—except of course finding a market for his production at a price that will enable him to pay for all these wonderful discoveries.

This is probably indicative of real objective thinking, in this line of world interest and soul searching.

We wish that political parties and their policies could be examined and weighed objectively and without prejudice. If mankind could do that we would very soon see a better world.

To make a fair appraisal of the CCF and its contribution to Canadian life, it should be noted that this party, from its inception, in the '30's declared for the "Butcher, the Baker and the Candlestick maker" — or in other words for the independent business man and the 'family farmer'. At the same time it declared then, as now, that private monopolies should become public services. It has also declared that the dominating motive of our society must be human welfare, rather than private profit. It has consistently declared that parliament should call together a group of men, competent in their respective fields to commence comprehensive public planning for Canadian progress. This group to be free from political meddling.

Much abuse has been heaped on these thoughtful people, and since few people want to be bothered thinking about politics, the CCF has not been received as it should. But its impact on our country has been great. E.W. DAVIS

GOODBYE TO TEACHERS.

While Canadian industry is clamorous for trained engineers, scientists and technical personnel, our university is losing their best teachers and professors they are leaving for other provinces and United States where their knowledge is appreciated and with higher compensation.

But it should be no news that the teacher in Alberta is still struggling for status, which may bear some relationship to the acute teacher shortage. Nor is it news that the average salary of teachers doesn't begin to compare with that of the plumber or bricklayer or electrician. As for college professors, it is doubtful if they would be represented on a list of the top-salaried ministers and deputies in the government of Alberta. No wonder that the president of the University has to plead for private grants and donations. Industrial strength cannot be excluded from the factor affecting the present competition for world leadership. Know-how may be the determining factor in the competition between the rival ideologies. The nation that has the greatest number of scientists and technicians not only in the petroleum area but in the entire field of science and industrial development including automation will challenge the world for industrial supremacy and its markets.

Whatever the attraction of the nation of the fact buck, the greatest air power and the huge stockpile of H-bombs, these claims will be proved insignificant while we are concerned with the need to relate ourselves to the rest of the world in a way that makes inspired sense in our young men who are destined to become famous theoreticians and scientists. Financial aid to education is an investment in our country's future.

Belcher Staff Free Of Blame

OTTAWA — Veterans Minister Lapointe said Thursday the staff of Colonel Belcher Hospital in Calgary did everything possible to help a woman who gave birth to a baby on stone steps inside the institution early in July.

He said in a statement he bases his conclusion on a study of the incident by a board of inquiry which reported to him earlier this week. The report contained sworn evidence of witnesses and conclusions reached by the fact-finding body.

The incident involves Mrs. Harry Wolfs of Strathmore, Alta. who gave birth to her baby on the steps of the veterans hospital while awaiting an ambulance to take her to another hospital.

Mr. Lapointe appointed the board after C. E. Johnston, Social Credit member of Parliament for Bow River, described the incident in the Commons as distressing. He criticized the hospital's "inhuman attitude of refusing admittance" to the mother.

However, Mr. Lapointe said he is satisfied that the staff of the hospital did everything possible to help Mrs. Wolfs and that there was no negligence or lack of kindliness or consideration.

Health Insurance Scheme Needs Representation By Six Provinces

Alberta's health minister, Dr. W. W. Cross, said in Edmonton the province is ready to go ahead at any time, but it appears unlikely that the proposed federal-provincial health insurance scheme can go into effect until early 1958.

Cross said his department has a plan "pretty well worked out," although some details remain to be ironed out.

The hospital insurance plan still hinges on acceptance by either Quebec or Ontario. Ontario has set up a commission to study the matter.

Thus far, only three western provinces have agreed to join Ottawa. Under the scheme, as outlined by the federal government, at least six provinces representing a majority of the population must agree to enter the program. This means either Quebec or Ontario must join.

The National Parks of Canada now cover more than 29,000 square miles of wonderfully scenic territory.

Loan Money Scarce Says Financier

EDMONTON (BUP) — Canadians can expect to see the tight mortgage money situation continue for the foreseeable future, Senator T. D'Arcy Leonard, of Toronto, president of the Canada Permanent Trust Co., said in Edmonton.

"We are feeling the tightness of money as interest goes up and find there is not as much to lend as before. At the same time there are more applications for loans," he said.

"This is part of a general mortgage policy with which we have to conform. It is one of the country's methods against inflation, which is something we should all do our best to check," Leonard said.

"If we save a little more and not spend so much, we can avoid upsetting the applecart," he commented.

Polymer Plans Alberta Plant

(Special) — Production of butadiene at a new plant situated between Lacombe and Red Deer is indicated by the recent acquisition of 1,500 acres of land in the vicinity.

Location was determined by the proximity of the Stettler-Nevis-Big Valley oil and gas fields and consequent plentiful supply of hydrocarbons. The low field price of the raw material was a deciding factor in the purchase of plant space.

Although no official announcement has yet been made, The Sun is informed that Polymer Corp. is the principal in the deal. Our informant reveals initial production at 20 million feet daily, and reports the butadiene will be shipped to Sarnia in special tank cars. There it will be processed into synthetic rubber.

Actual location is said to be about seven miles south east of Lacombe.

The most northerly fortress on the North American continent was Fort Prince of Wales, Manitoba, on Hudson Bay. It was built in the years between 1733 and 1771 and is now a National Historic Park.

Lunch Box Briefs

We never do get away from packed lunches, do we? If it's not men in the field, then it's the children back at school. Miss Joyce Lewis, extension nutritionist, has some ideas on the subject. A good breakfast and a hot dinner might help to keep the school child healthy. But a good third meal is essential if no important food for growth is to be in short supply.

The lunch box must be kept interesting, packed with tasty, attractive food. Plan to provide something different every day, different fillings in the sandwiches, different kinds of bread, a meat pie or a salad with muffins or buns as a change from sandwiches; raw vegetables in various form, salads or desserts packed in little covered jars or plastic containers, a variety of milk drinks.

A little bit of left-over gravy or creamed vegetables may often be added to meat fillings, making them different and good.

If planning the school lunch is a problem for you, write for some free bulletins from our office.

To Choose Nominees For Clark Seat

EDMONTON (BUP) — Officials of both the Social Credit and Liberal parties announced in Edmonton that they are making plans for nomination conventions for the only vacant seat in the Alberta legislature.

The by-election for the Stettler riding of central Alberta has been made necessary by the death last June of John Clark who had held the seat for past four years. This will be the first by-election in the province in two years.

Clerk of the legislative assembly, Raymond Crevolin, says that he is awaiting an announcement from Premier Ernest Manning on the date of the by-election which must be held before the end of November.

The Social Credit party has held the Stettler seat since 1935. In the 1955 provincial general election Clark defeated his nearest opponent, a Conservative, by more than 1,300 votes.

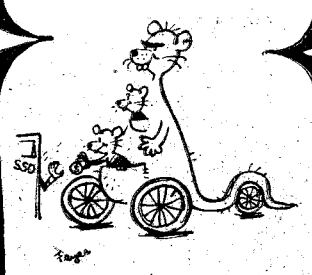
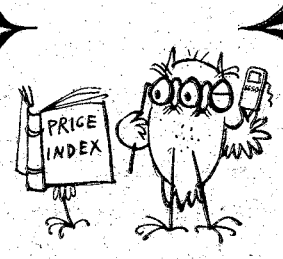
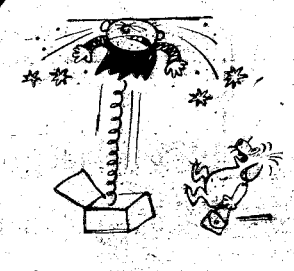
Look how gasoline prices have stayed down



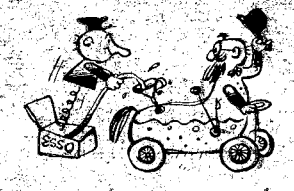
In these days of high and rising prices, what's happened to the price of gasoline?



Let's compare wholesale gasoline prices with the government's general wholesale price index.



Since 1935-1939, prices in general have risen 120%.



In the same period, gasoline has gone up only 38%.

Gasoline prices have gone up less than one-third as much as wholesale prices in general.

He knows that the bank manager's door is open to everyone.
